LEARN AND EARN TO ACHIEVE POTENTIAL

Learn and Earn to Achieve Potential (LEAP) is a multimillion-dollar initiative that is increasing employment and educational opportunities for young people who have been involved in the child welfare and justice systems, or who are homeless, by adapting and scaling two established models to address their specific needs and challenges. Launched by the Corporation for National and Community Service's Social Innovation Fund and the Annie E. Casey Foundation in 2015, this effort involves 10 local partnerships working across eight states, four national organizations — Jobs for America's Graduates (JAG), JFF, MDRC and School & Main Institute — and a growing network of more than 60 local and national funders. Here's a glimpse at the early results from LEAP's second year.

THE CHALLENGE

4.6 million young people ages 16-24 are neither in school nor working

$5.4 million

EARLY MILESTONES

Number of Participants Achieving Early Employment and Educational Milestones. Sept. 2016–March 2018

- Postsecondary enrollment
- Employment
- Other advanced training
- Internship or on-the-job learning
- HS diploma or GED
- Job retention
- Earned certificate or credential

EARLY SYSTEM CHANGES

Cultivated cross-system alignment to expand LEAP participants' access to resources such as housing, child care, transportation and other supportive services.

Worked with justice-system partners to establish LEAP enrollment as an alternative to probation and confinement.

Trained partners in trauma-informed care to ensure youth gain support from caring adults in a variety of settings.

Developed early warning systems with postsecondary admissions and financial aid staff to proactively address student barriers.

Established sector-based partnerships and fast-track hiring programs with employers.

For more information, contact leap@aecf.org.

