

INTEREST FORM

Family-Engaged Case Planning in Youth Probation Training

THE ANNIE E. CASEY FOUNDATION

This is a preview of the questions you will answer on the electronic form to express interest in the training.

SECTION 1: POINT-OF-CONTACT INFORMATION

Please complete the following for the team's point of contact.

- First name, Last name, Title
- Email address, preferred phone number
- Organization
- Where is your organization? (State)
- Probation jurisdiction (name the city or county)

SECTION 2: ABOUT YOUR ORGANIZATION

- Are you interested in creating a local-level team (city or county) or a state-level team? Select one.
 - Local
 - State
- Is your probation department under court or judicial authority? Select one.
 - Yes, it's under court or judicial authority
 - No, it's independent from the court or judiciary
- Total number of young people placed on formal probation following adjudication in the previous calendar year.
 - Number of young people placed on formal probation, by race and ethnicity in the previous calendar year.
 - Number of young people placed on formal probation, by offense severity, in the previous calendar year.
 - Status offense:
 - Misdemeanor:
 - Felony:
- Number of juvenile probation officers.
- Average length of time young people spend on probation.
- Average juvenile probation caseload (at the time of applying or over the course of the year).

Responses to the following two questions are optional, but highly recommended. They would help inform the selection committee.

- In previous calendar year, number of young people admitted to detention for technical violation(s) of probation and that number as a percentage of total detention admissions.

- Number of young people in the previous calendar year with court disposition to out-of-home placement.

SECTION 3: EXPRESSION OF INTEREST IN THE FAMILY-ENGAGED CASE PLANNING TRAINING (ALL RESPONSES ALLOW FOR UP TO 500 WORDS)

- Why is your jurisdiction interested in participating?
- How would family-engaged case planning fit within your site's current and/or future efforts to transform probation?
- Briefly describe the current case planning process in your jurisdiction for young people on probation. How are goals chosen? What role does the probation officer play in choosing goals? What role do young people and families play?
- Describe any efforts your jurisdiction has taken in the last few years to authentically engage and partner with young people and families with lived experience in the youth justice system. These can be case-level or system-level examples.
- Decreases in probation violations, length of time on probation, admissions to detention and out-of-home placement, particularly for youth of color, are among the intended outcomes of family-engaged case planning. Describe any efforts your jurisdiction has taken in the last few years to work toward similar outcomes.
- Tell us a little about how you would go about assembling your team.
- Please enter anything else you would like to share.